

Website Updated

DOY has recently updated its informational website (doyfcu.com). Now DOY will be featuring articles from its newsletter in the "News and Notes" page and will archive these articles for future reference for any person visiting the site. Also, there is a tab to open a page that explains DOY's Privacy Policy. Recent changes to the Federal Regulations now allow financial institutions to post their privacy policies on their website rather than mail them annually. This will save DOY the expense of printing and mailing the policy every year to all the members. DOY will continue to make printed copies of the policy available to all new members or for any member who requests it.
